$247,450 IN E BOND SALES

E Bond sales to Adams counties in the "Mighty Seventh" war loan drive are nearing the quarter-million dollar mark... but more than a half-million dollars short of the county quota.

County War Finance Committee headquarters this noon announced total sales at $247,450.25, with a majority of these sales reported by students in local schools and by members of the Women's Division committee.

One observer estimated that at the present daily rate of bond sales the county will fall short of its quota of $700,000 in E bonds by more than $300,000.

However, he predicted that a spurt in sales is expected before the close of the campaign.

Philadelphia, May 25 (AP)—Pennsylvania, has achieved one-third of its quota for E bonds and total sales to individuals in the seventh war loan, Chairman G. Ruhland Rebmann, Jr., of the state War Finance Committee announced today.

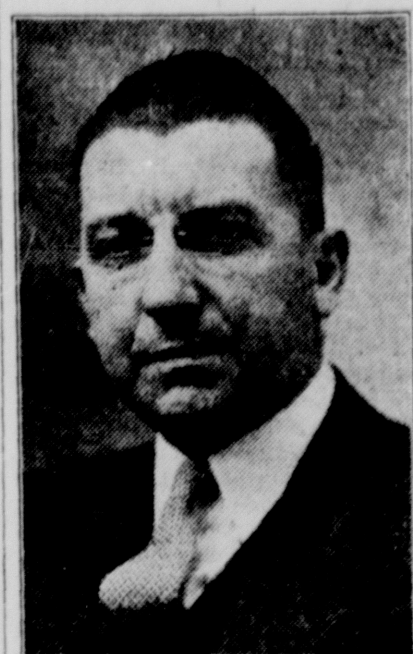

Figures through yesterday showed a total sale of $95,500.00 or 33.1 per cent of the $288,000,000 E bond goal and $168,300.00 or 33.3 per cent of the $506,000,000 individual sale quota.

Flanking Pincers On Shuri Tightened And Other Units Advance

By HAMILTON W. FARON

Guam, May 25 (AP)—The Tenth Army's flanking pincers on fortress Shuri in the center of the Okinawa front was pulled tighter today as Seventh Infantry troops expanded their bulge below Yonabaru.

The 32nd Regiment pushed ahead 1,800 yards south of the east coast seaport, while the 184th moved into positions 1,500 yards southwest of the town to maintain the pace Maj. Gen. Archibald V. Arnold's units have set, despite clinging mud which mired everything on wheels.

Japanese movements indicated the enemy would attempt to set up another defense line two miles to the south.

Before Shuri, in the center of the line, 77th Infantrymen moved through a small village, meeting only small arms fire, while west and south of the fortress town, five Marines seized Asato village, killing a dozen of 60 some Japanese encountered.

Small counterattacks were beaten back by the 96th Infantry east Shuri, while tough Marines fought through the streets of Naha on the extreme west.

The move by Maj. Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd, Jr.'s Sixth Division of Leathernecks could become a flanking movement to the east for the conquest of the principal stronghold at the fortress city of Shuri.

Move Through Rubble

With grenades, flame throwers and small arms, the Marines were moving through rubble, virtually all that remained of the city as a result of weeks of heavy naval and air bombardment.

Strong points were being reduced by the slugging Marines, who crossed Asato river in strength yesterday on bridges their engineers built under heavy enemy artillery fire. One of the bridges appears to be large enough to support mechanized units when weather permits their use.

The weather continued bad, however, and with mechanized units mired in mud the campaign is wholly a foot soldiers' war all the way across the line from northeastern Naha to a point south of Yonabaru on the east coast. Near Yonabaru, Maj. Gen. Archibald V. Arnold's 7th Division Doughboys—again Infantrymen alone—were enlarging the American-held area south and west in a move that may become an encirclement of Shuri fortress in the central sector of the "little Siegfried" line.

Meanwhile, in the center of the line, units of Maj. Gen. Pedro A. Del Valle's First Marine Division were mopping up isolated Japanese positions before resuming their assault on heavily fortified Shuri.

Progress Is Slow

Shuri was more than 50 per cent circled, although Maj. Gen. Andrew D. Bruce's 77th Infantry Division, attacking from the northeast, still was more than half a mile away. Mud combined with Japanese artillery and mortar fire to slow its progress.

The 27th Infantry Division of Maj. Gen. George W. Griner, which captured Machinato airfield and led the early assault on Naha, was disclosed as engaged in the biggest mopping up operation of the central-western Pacific campaign. Starting at narrow Ishikawa isthmus and moving almost shoulder to shoulder, three regiments slogged northward to clean out an estimated 1,000 Japanese soldiers and round up some 150,000 civilians who fled into northern Okinawa's rugged hills.

In central Burma, the announcement said, the Japanese still were maintaining a bridgehead west of the Irrawaddy river at Ka Ma, 22 miles southwest of Thayetmyo, but were attempting to get their troops across and withdraw to the eastward.

Allied air operations were again restricted by bad weather.

Tokyo Raid

Guam, May 25 (AP)—Huge fires still raged in the heart of industrial Tokyo today after Thursday's 9,000,000 pound fire bomb raid, unrelenting ever carried out on Japan's capital city.

Tokyo radio said "thousands of homes" were destroyed. It made the unconfirmed report that the mansions of three imperial princes either were gutted or partially burned along with the French and Italian embassies, the Mexican legation, the official residences of the minister of education and the minister of transport.

Officials of the 21st Bomber Command here hesitated to estimate results due to difficulties of obtaining clear pictures of the devastation. Clouds of smoke still billowed over the bombed area along Tokyo bay a few miles south of the imperial palace.

Revival Meetings

Revival meetings will be held at the Munnasburg Mennonite church, beginning Sunday evening at 8 o'clock and continuing each evening during the week. The Rev. Elias W. Kulp, Bally, Pa., will conduct the meetings.

BIG 3 PARLEY TO POUR OIL ON CHOPPY WATERS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (AP Foreign News Analyst)

The early meeting of the Big Three, which Washington announces is "in the works," is calculated to pour oil on badly troubled international waters, and consequently can't be held too soon.

This is the hurricane season for the United Nations, and is an especially trying time for the Big Three upon whom falls the brunt of the task of keeping the Allied ship on a fairly even keel. The end of the Hitlerian war has intensified crosswinds which have been developing. The Polish question, the Yugoslav claims to Italian and Austrian territory, the problems attendant on the occupation of Germany, the generally disturbed condition of the Balkans, the activities of the communist cells throughout Europe.

It's no exaggeration to say that the next few months will represent the most dangerous period which the Allies are likely to encounter. We must deal with these crosswinds promptly.

Early Dangers Worst
If fate projects a split among the Big Three—which heaven forbid—it probably will come in this early danger period. If we can pass through that safely, then the sailing should be increasingly good.

There are numerous factors entering into this danger period but the most important are these: (1) Mutual suspicions of political and economic intentions, and (2) the fact that the Russian and British spheres of influence are undergoing radical changes as the Red tide advances westward and covers zones over which John Bull and France heretofore have held sway.

The Yugoslav difficulty illustrates the point very well. Yugoslavia comes within Russia's new zone of influence and it's a fair assumption that this fiery Balkan state's Politico Military leader, Marshal Tito, in making his claims would act in a manner which he thought would be acceptable to Moscow. If this assumption is correct, then it's logical to conclude that Tito was inspired by Moscow to adopt a conciliatory attitude in face of the Anglo-American opposition to his occupation of the disputed territory. Anyway, one hopes that this is what happened, for it would be a good sign. This column last Monday forecast that Russia would thus ease the situation.

Damaging Rumors
Another concrete illustration cropped up yesterday when the Russian commentator "Observer," writing in the Moscow newspaper Izvestia, declared a report that the Soviet Union was seeking Korea, Manchuria and Formosa was irresponsible slander by persons of unclean conscience." Well now, Russia hasn't made any claim to these territories but either there is a "suspicion" that she wants them or somebody is deliberately trying to make trouble by spreading such a report.

Then too, the Communist "Daily Worker" of London today says editorially that the British government has "assisted in building up a so-called Polish Army whose officers frankly boast that they live for nothing but the day when they can fight the U. S. S. R." Previously the Russian Army newspaper "Red Star" in Moscow had asserted that the London Polish government was training an "Intervention Force" for use in Poland—a claim which Polish quarters in London promptly denied.

Well, so we could go on but it all adds up to this: The greatest service the forthcoming meeting of President Truman, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin can render will be to iron out the suspicions, and the causes of the suspicions. Presumably they will deal with all the European and Oriental situations which give rise to anxiety—and they are numerous.

FLAMES DAMAGE RESIDENCE HERE

Flames which spread rapidly through the walls of the frame dwelling of Dan Johnson, colored, 223 West High street, Thursday afternoon about 3:45 o'clock caused damage estimated at several hundred dollars. Mrs. H. H. Thomas, York street, the owner, said the property is insured.

After neighbors discovered smoke pouring from the upper section of the dwelling at the western end of a row of three connected dwellings, Glenn Weishaar, 419 South Washington street, broke open the back door of the Johnson home and tossed out a blazing chair which stood near the kitchen stove.

Flames from the chair had burned through a wall and spread upward through ceilings and partitions forcing Gettysburg firemen to use several lines of water and cut openings in the outer wall of the building.

No one was at home when the fire broke out.

Weishaar, who is employed by H. T. Marling, was working on the roof of a nearby house when the fire was discovered.

SECRET RECORDS INDICT NAZIS OF GUILT FOR WAR

Berchtesgaden, May 25 (AP)—Stenographic notes the Nazis tried unsuccessfully to destroy have revealed a secret, self-indicting account by Adolf Hitler saying he planned the "crushing" of Czechoslovakia and Poland as "essential preliminaries for the war of the future" against the Allies.

Hitler said Germany was "superlatively prepared" for war and that psychologically she "could not afford to waste" Nazi-schooled fanaticism, which he feared might die down.

Hitler's private report, made to division commanders last Dec. 12, was the most spectacular find to date by American officers studying thousands of pages of partly charred notes which are shaping up as a terrific indictment of Nazi war guilt.

Belle Owen Alibi
German stenographers, who themselves took down many of these statements the Nazis never dreamed would come to light, were transcribing the notes, brought here from Berlin, when a partial text of Hitler's report was found.

Made just before the German Ardennes offensive of Dec. 16, Hitler's statement to his officers openly belied the Nazis' excuse that they had started the war because of alleged Polish provocations. Hitler outlined his plans made in peacetime for war preparation in this order:

"First, immediate introduction of universal military service.

"Second re-establishment of German sovereignty through the occupation of the Rhineland and the creation of a fortifications system.

"Preliminaries For War"

"Third, immediate annexation of Austria, crushing of Czechoslovakia and ultimate crushing of Poland in order to bring Germany, territorially, to a position for effective defense.

"These were the essential preliminaries for the war of the future. There is not only military preparation, there also is territorial preparation for a big war and in this respect we with limited space were very badly off.

"If the course we then proposed to take should lead to a big war," Hitler continued, without specifying what that course was, "obviously war would have to be accepted. Because it was better to accept it then in a moment when we were superlatively prepared rather than at some other moment in which this advantage might have been lost. That one can not avoid war by refraining from striking was demonstrated by World War one."

DETROIT LOSES BENTON, GAME TO ATHLETICS

(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Detroit is back to a two-man pitching staff today with Al Benton, the No. 3 man, lost for at least a month with a broken right leg.

The ex-sailor who had allowed only four runs and 31 hits in 57 and one-third innings and had won five games compared to one defeat, a 1-0 loss to Washington last Sunday, was laid low in the fourth inning yesterday by a drive off the bat of Philadelphia's Roberto Estalella. The Athletics went on to score all their runs off Benton's successors and defeat the Tigers 7-2.

Benton's loss puts Hal Newhouser and Dizzy Trout back on the swing shift schedule of last year when the pitching pair took part in 96 games and won 56. With Benton sharing a large part of the burden, Hurricane Hal and Tornado Trout were able to take a three-day rest, something they didn't get last year.

While Manager Steve O'Neill hopes for the return of Benton "in three or four weeks," it was feared by some that the giant right-hander might not return to the hill until after July 4th, the mid-way mark.

Lodge Protests
Russ Christopher handcuffed the Bengals with eight hits to register his sixth triumph. A batting order mixup in which George Kell and Ervin Hall batted out of turn resulted in a decision that caused both managers to protest the game.

The New York Yankees drubbed the league leading Chicago White Sox, 6-3, moving past Detroit into second place and only a half-game off the pace. Atley Donald was hit for 12 blows but four Pale Hose errors and 11 Yankee safeties saved him from trouble.

Best pitched game of the day was a night tilt in Washington won by Cleveland's Steve Gromek over Roger Wolff, 1-0, on a five-hit effort. Doubles by Pat Seery and Jim McConnell broke it up in the tenth.

Rookie Ben Steiner contributed four hits, including a two-run homer, to the Boston cause as the Red Sox made it two straight over St. Louis, 8-6. Pinky Woods received credit for his first starting game triumph.

Danny Gardella, a New York Giant substitute outfielder, gave the National league pacemakers a 7-6 victory over Cincinnati with an eighth-inning pinch homer by Buddy Kerr on base. Bill Voiselle's old Cincinnati jinx—he's never beaten them—continued to hex the ace right-hander in search of a ninth successive win and Ace Adams, second of three relief men, got the credit over 44-year-old Hod Lisenbee.

Wins 1st For Cards
Charles (Red) Barrett, acquired by St. Louis from Boston in the Mort Cooper deal, made his first appearance for the Red Birds and registered a 7-5 success over Brooklyn, helping his cause with a double that chased Hal Gregg in a four-run fourth frame. Augie Galan sparked for a losing cause with a perfect five for five evening, including his third round tripper.

Pittsburgh was forced into extra innings for the second straight day but again downed Boston, 10-9 on Jack Barrett's circuit clout in the tenth. It gave Bob Logan his first defeat and Rookie Kenny Gables his first victory.

The Phillies turned back Chicago, 6-3, on a brilliant five-hit effort by Kewpie Dick Barrett who decided Paul Derringer.

Williamsport Takes Eastern Loop Lead
(By The Associated Press)
Williamsport, a second division team less than two weeks ago, held first place in the Eastern league standings today.

The Grays moved into top spot last night, copping a tightly pitched contest from Hartford 2-1 while Scranton dropped a doubleheader to Utica 11-4, 12-3 to drop back to second.

In other league games, Albany topped Elmira 3-0 and Binghamton and Wilkes-Barre split a double header. Binghamton grabbed the opener 2-1 but the Barons came back to win the nightcap 14-7.

Games today: Elmira at Albany, Scranton at Utica, Wilkes-Barre at Binghamton and Williamsport at Hartford, all at 8 p. m.

Paul Waner Returns To Sandlot Baseball

Pittsburgh, May 25 (AP)—Paul Waner, the little man with the powerful bat that held him in the fanfare of the major leagues for nearly two decades, returned last night to the sandlots from which he sprang—and declared "I get a big kick out of it."

Playing as an outfielder with first-place Dormont of the Greater Pittsburgh league, the 42-year-old Oklahoman proved he could still hit by knocking out two singles, one which drove in two of the runs by which Dormont walloped Oakmont 10-1.

His fielding was unspectacular, an easy fly popping right out of his glove, but the crowd—especially the kids—didn't care, for here was Paul Waner, the 3.152-hit man and three-time National league batting champ, who was playing with their team.

At one point 50 joyful youngsters mobbed him with such enthusiasm that he ripped the seat of his pants.

The fact Waner was there drew 2,500 fans—Dormont's largest gale in 15 years and more than the 2,156 his former Pittsburgh Pirate teammates drew at Forbes Field that very afternoon.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, May 25 (AP)—It seems to be a 50-50 proposition whether organized baseball's effort to encourage high school baseball has made enough headway to offset the reverses it has inflicted on the program by signing schoolboy players.

Scattered reports to the high school committee indicate, however, that there's a lot of interest in some spots. . . . Illinois, for instance, had 21 more schools in its state tourney than ever before; Missouri is planning a statewide series; Indiana plans to "put forth considerable effort" to increase baseball interest next year; the high school associations of 18 states are using instructional films provided by the committee and at least ten states will stage "clinics" for coaches and players with organized ball supplying the instructors. . . . The Phillies and Pirates (don't laugh) added their contribution recently by holding a demonstration for 3,000 school and sandlot players. . . . Such efforts may be a trifle late, but they seem to be getting results.

BIG POWERS MAY OBTAIN CONTROL ON VETO ISSUE

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
(Associated Press Diplomatic Editor)

San Francisco, May 25 (AP)—The big powers are reported today to have lined up enough votes in the United Nations Conference to block any change in their absolute control of world machinery designed to preserve peace.

This issue—the veto power of any of the Big Five over settling international disputes or using force to smash an aggressor—is the most critical remaining for this assembly of 49 nations. The decision hour comes as the Conference enters its second month and Secretary of State Stettinius returns from talks in Washington with President Truman.

New Points Agreed

Many committees are striving to wind up their work by this week-end in order to allow public discussion of their reports to begin in the four big Conference commissions early next week.

Among their latest accomplishments are agreement on provisions designed to strengthen the economic and social work of the new league, and to outlaw secret treaties, once the world organization is functioning.

In the veto dispute many small nations are demanding that the authority of the big powers in a projected world organization be restricted sharply so that an 11-nation security council could try by peaceful means to settle troubles between nations even over big-power objections.

Would Not Bar Airing

The British delegation has proposed a compromise to meet that demand. Some United States delegates like the compromise idea, but say that in view of commitments already made to Russia at Yalta they cannot press it. Russia has been standing firm on the Yalta formula which provides that any one of the big powers can "veto" a council decision to take action.

Last night a committee of United States, Russian, British and Chinese officials drafted a statement in reply to small nation questions about this formula. This statement promises that any nation great or small may bring a dispute before the security council and that the council may discuss it, without taking a vote. Thus the veto could not be used to prevent the airing of charges and counter-charges.

Beyond that point—when the council was deciding whether to investigate the dispute or what action to take—a vote would be required and any one of the big powers—Russia, Britain, the United States, France or China—could prevent council action by voting "no."

Have done love's labor many a year.

Up with the chin and carry on!
Doubtful the struggle, but see it through!

When double-feature shows we'll see

SPECIALIZED SINNERS

For four weeks I have been a so-called patient at the famous Battle Creek Sanitarium, at Battle Creek, Michigan—the State in which I was born. It is to this great institution for half a century or so that people from all over the world have come to get their physical and spiritual machinery repaired. And a hospitable, comforting place it is, founded by the late Dr. John Harvey Kellogg, who proved his principles of health by living to be nearly 92 years of age.

Smoking, intoxicating liquors; meat, tea and coffee are all taboo at the Sanitarium, as are the "biologic" life. There is no smoking allowed on the premises, which greatly adds to the uniqueness of the place. But there are those who must have their smoke—and an occasional cup of coffee. There is a fire station just across the corner from the Sanitarium, to which for some years a few smokers migrated, decorating the bright red seats thereabout.

One day the great Doctor Kellogg, passing by, noted some of his flock sitting there, and with his gentle ire a trifle ruffled, exclaimed: "You're just a lot of sinners, that's what you are!" And passed on. Thus came into existence one of the most famous and unique clubs known in all this world—The Number 2 Fire Station "Sinners' Club" of Battle Creek, Michigan, U. S. A.

To date the Club numbers about 500 members, scattered all over the globe—international in scope. But you really don't have to "sin" to become a member. You just have to be companionable, for here you meet a group of the finest firemen this side of—well, what shall I say? Let's say Heaven itself! Never have I enjoyed better companionship among men—for, I proudly confess, I am a full-fledged member of this unique organization.

I learned that to become a fireman you have to be endowed with rare intelligence, courage, and a quick-acting mind. I happily number each one of these Battle Creek firemen as my friends. I noted among the members of this "Sinners' Club" newspaper publishers, noted business men, a great governor's mother, a noted—and honest—political "boss," and other distinguished addicts of companionship, with or without the specialized "sin" that initiated this Club.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "A Sense of Beauty."

SPECIALIZED SINNERS

For four weeks I have been a so-called patient at the famous Battle Creek Sanitarium, at Battle Creek, Michigan—the State in which I was born. It is to this great institution for half a century or so that people from all over the world have come to get their physical and spiritual machinery repaired. And a hospitable, comforting place it is, founded by the late Dr. John Harvey Kellogg, who proved his principles of health by living to be nearly 92 years of age.

Smoking, intoxicating liquors; meat, tea and coffee are all taboo at the Sanitarium, as are the "biologic" life. There is no smoking allowed on the premises, which greatly adds to the uniqueness of the place. But there are those who must have their smoke—and an occasional cup of coffee. There is a fire station just across the corner from the Sanitarium, to which for some years a few smokers migrated, decorating the bright red seats thereabout.

One day the great Doctor Kellogg, passing by, noted some of his flock sitting there, and with his gentle ire a trifle ruffled, exclaimed: "You're just a lot of sinners, that's what you are!" And passed on. Thus came into existence one of the most famous and unique clubs known in all this world—The Number 2 Fire Station "Sinners' Club" of Battle Creek, Michigan, U. S. A.

To date the Club numbers about 500 members, scattered all over the globe—international in scope. But you really don't have to "sin" to become a member. You just have to be companionable, for here you meet a group of the finest firemen this side of—well, what shall I say? Let's say Heaven itself! Never have I enjoyed better companionship among men—for, I proudly confess, I am a full-fledged member of this unique organization.

I learned that to become a fireman you have to be endowed with rare intelligence, courage, and a quick-acting mind. I happily number each one of these Battle Creek firemen as my friends. I noted among the members of this "Sinners' Club" newspaper publishers, noted business men, a great governor's mother, a noted—and honest—political "boss," and other distinguished addicts of companionship, with or without the specialized "sin" that initiated this Club.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "A Sense of Beauty."

Chapter 8

Dr. Warner started the motor and Kay sighed. The worst part of the trip was over for Tommy.

Kay had become very well acquainted with Dr. Warner during the past week of meeting him several times at the children's clinic. She hoped now that he would tell her something of his life, where he had lived, what he had done before he had become famous. They had always talked of Tommy and made plans for his trip, and obviously they couldn't discuss his operation just now.

And she was not disappointed. Presently he was telling her of his boyhood home in California, of his mother and father, dead several years. He had, he said, left medical school to volunteer for the war in 1918. "I was too young to be prepared for surgical work at first. I finished serving my internship after enlistment."

"You were in the hospitals all the time?"

"Yes, I was made captain in the Medical Corps just before the Armistice. Afterwards I worked and studied at different places in Europe. But when the offer came from the Board I decided I was homesick. So here I am."

Kay was wondering how old he was. If he had left college to go to war, he must be little more than forty now. He didn't look it—he was one of the most attractive men she'd ever seen.

"I wish I could do worthwhile things like you," she said wistfully. "My mother was like that."

He turned to her. "Self-discipline is the first lesson a medical student learns. If he spends his energy in emotional feeling for the patient, he will be unable to relieve suffering." He paused, and then added, "But according to Dr. Sims you do lead a busy life—doing things. I can see what you've done for Tommy."

"There has been so little I could do," she told him. "But Dr. Sims really has worked hard with him." Dr. Warner nodded. "I know how Dr. Sims must have worried during Tommy's illness—afraid that an epidemic would strike in Lowell; how helpless he felt when he realized the polio was leaving the muscles in Tommy's feet paralyzed, how hard it was to wait until the paralysis was complete before he could start exercises and massage of the muscles. Yes I thoroughly agree with you, Dr. Sims has worked hard with him."

"They drove in silence for several moments. The car was following the road marked 'Franklin D. Roosevelt Highway' over hills, around curves, through a village where elm trees towered over proud colonial homes. A sleepy voice came from the back seat. 'I almost went to sleep, Miss Kay, Tommy murmured."

Kay and the doctor looked at each other and smiled. She turned to Tommy and assured him. "Well, as long as you didn't—"

"Maybe I did sleep a little," he admitted.

"It won't be long now, Tommy."

Dr. Warner told him.

Dr. Warner drove the car off the paved highway to the right and on between two tall stone columns supporting the signs: "The Georgia Warm Springs Foundation." The wide dirt road was winding around the mountain and red and yellow leaves fell in clouds before them.

Now they were passing lowbuilt cottages, each with a ramp built from the ground to the porch, thus giving the patients freedom to come and go in their wheel chairs.

At the top of the mountain Dr. Warner stopped the car in front of a large white stucco building with a sign over the entrance that read "The Georgia Warm Springs Medical Building." Kay thought it was the most beautiful hospital she had ever seen.

They could see a number of patients in the first floor rooms. Some were in wheel chairs and in rolling beds; others had become able to walk with the support of crutches and canes.

Kay turned to Tommy and was shocked at the whiteness of his face and the fear in his eyes. She could read his thoughts: He was going into this building; he would be hurt just as he had been hurt many times before. When he came out, he would probably be just as crippled as he was now. The doctors had failed so many times.

An attendant wheeled out a chair from the hospital. Kay slipped to the back seat of the car and, drawing Tommy close to her side, whispered to him, "Tell Dr. Warner that you are Leonidas; that you have been wounded in battle. Ask him to place you in the chair so that you can sit tall and straight before all your soldiers who look to you for courage."

Tommy's eyes widened, and he turned to Dr. Warner who was standing by the car. "Is this my white charger?" he cried. His voice was shrill with attempted sternness.

"Yes, it is, sir," Dr. Warner agreed. "Will you mount now?"

"I'm ready!" Tommy announced, and then turned back to Kay. "Why does the man with the wheel chair look at us so funny? Doesn't he know about Leonidas?"

"Find out while you're here," she suggested. "And if he doesn't it's your duty to tell him." They exchanged their secret salute and Tommy turned to his chair.

Dr. Warner turned away with the child. He would, he told Kay, return in about an hour and they'd have lunch at the hotel nearby where they had reservations to stay until Tommy's operation.

Mildew In Lawn And Garden

Already mildew is appearing on such susceptible plants as rambler roses, lilacs and a few other ornamentals. It is easily recognized as a whitish coating on the leaves and stems. Toward the end of the summer many flowers, shrubs, vines and vegetables may show infection, especially where they grow in damp, poorly aerated locations or when the weather is warm and rainy. Perhaps lima beans and cantaloupes are the most susceptible vegetables to suffer from mildews, with perennial phlox, sunflower, rose, chrysanthemum and spirea prominent among ornamentals likely to be infected.

Sanitation in lawn and garden is important among preventive measures, although many kinds of plants, including numerous weeds, are subject to mildew and thereby keep the fungi so widely spread that complete prevention is impossible. Therefore, flower growers and vegetable gardeners should know how to identify this disease and pursue prompt and effective control practices.

There are many kinds or types of mildew, each attacking certain kinds of plants or groups of plants. For example, one type belongs to peach trees and roses, another affects poplar and willow trees, still another includes birch, lilac, honeysuckle, oak and walnut among its victims. But in all cases control measures are the same, with special emphasis placed on the importance of gathering up all mildewed leaves and other affected plant refuse and burning it before winter.

Many Kinds of Mildew

Mildew on roses can be prevented or curbed by weekly to 10-day applications of the well known Massey dust (1 pound of arsenate of lead mixed with 9 pounds of superfine sulphur). This program of combat not only prevents mildew and reduces black-spot, but it kills several leaf-eating insect foes. The same advice applies to rambler or climbing roses as to bush species, although the climbing sorts are more susceptible to mildews.

Dusting lilacs with superfine sulphur or spraying them with Bordeaux mixture every ten days to two weeks reduces mildew infection. Either treatment is recommended in most cases where other ornamentals are affected.

As suggested above, mildew is often more severe where sunlight is lacking and air circulation is poor. This is especially true where the disease attacks perennial phlox. Liberal spacing to permit free circulation of air and penetration of sunshine is a wise precaution in pre-

Yanks Neutralized Enemy Munitions

Paris, May 25 (AP)—The Ordnance department has disclosed that during American soldiers neutralized 4,000 tons of German munitions and bombs every month during the battle of western Europe.

It was an exact science. Equipment needed to deactivate bombs was reduced from the size of a five ton truck load to a 40-pound kit. Casualties among the bomb disposal men ranged to six per cent at the time of the Normandy landings.

Col. Thomas J. Kane of Punxsutawney, Pa., who organized a bomb disposal school at Aberdeen, Md., and directed operations in Europe, said the bomb disposal troops often worked in advance of infantry, clearing away explosives left by the enemy. Maj. John E. Feldman, Baltimore, head of the division's research and development branch, said the German butterfly bomb was the most dangerous enemy explosive with which the men dealt.

Restaurants Have Month To Comply

Harrisburg, May 25 (AP)—Pennsylvania's public eating and drinking places have a month in which to apply for licenses under the commonwealth's new uniform hygiene regulation law.

Applications must be made to local health authorities or to the state health department where there are no local agencies, Deputy Health Secretary Dr. J. Moore Campbell said today.

"All the little taprooms, soda fountains and similar places which serve food are affected," Campbell stated. "But the law does not apply to lodges or church suppers. We have never considered them eating places."

The essential difference between the 1927 hygiene law and the new act, Dr. Campbell said, is the licensing requirement which "gives us a considerable club over the careless restaurant operator."

REELECT BIXLER AS PRESIDENT OF HOSPITAL BOARD

Eight members of the board of directors of the Warner hospital were re-elected for three-year terms, two new members were named and present officers were re-elected at the May meeting of the board Friday evening at the Warner hospital.

C. A. Bixler, New Oxford, was re-elected president of the board. The other re-elected officers are: Vice presidents, John Hauser, Biglerville, and Carl A. Baum, Gettysburg; secretary, Henry M. Scharf, Gettysburg; and treasurer, the Rev. Mark E. Stock, also of Gettysburg.

Re-elected for three-year terms were: C. A. Bixler, Edmund W. Thomas, Franklin R. Bigham, Esq., Mr. Scharf, Dr. Frank H. Kramer, Charles H. Smith, Roy Starry and Joseph E. Codori.

The two board vacancies were filled by the elections of George Willhide, Emmitsburg banker, succeeding James Alvey, who had resigned, and Dale Bream, Cashtown merchant, succeeding Harry W. Dear-dorff.

Blueprints Near Completion

The board was informed that the blueprints for the Christian H. Musselman memorial addition to the hospital are nearly ready for submission to the War Production Board with the applications for priorities for materials for the addition to be financed by the Musselman foundation.

Routine business matters disposed of by the board included the ordering of uniforms for Edward Freed, hospital orderly, and his assistant, Harry Sillik; authorizing the placing of directional signs and markers on the hospital grounds and buildings for the assistance of visitors; ordering new water lines from two mains to furnish adequate supplies for present needs and for expected needs after the new addition goes into use, and the appointing of a special committee to study deep therapy equipment for installation in the expanded hospital.

President Bixler specially commended the laboratory technical staff at the hospital for their "splendid work" and praised them for the fine equipment and techniques that are used in that busy department of the hospital.

Report on Busy Months

The board received reports on the highly successful Visitors' Day observed at the hospital last Saturday and expressed their appreciation to the Hospital Auxiliary, the Nurses' Aides and the hospital staff members who aided with that local observance of National Hospital Day.

Monthly statistical reports for March and April were submitted showing busy months in which a total of 336 patients were admitted—169 each month. There were six deaths and 37 births in March and eight deaths and 36 births last month. A total of 28 accident cases were treated in the two months. The average number of patients in the hospital each day for both months was 48, the reports showed.

Directors present included: E. P. Miller, Charles H. Smith, Fr. Stock, William G. Durbanor, H. Harold Miller, Franklin R. Bigham, Carl A. Baum, all of Gettysburg; Millard F. Stoner, Fairfield; C. P. Keefer, New Oxford; William Sneringer, and Wilbur A. Bankert, Littlestown, and Roy Starry, York Springs.

S. SGT. REDDING IS LIBERATED

S/Sgt. Richard M. Redding, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ralph Redding, of Gettysburg has arrived in United States after being liberated as a prisoner of Germans. He expects to arrive home on furlough soon.

S/Sgt. Redding was serving with an infantry outfit in the Fifth Army in Italy when he was captured January 22, 1944. He was held prisoner at Stalag IV-B.

Last Thursday his parents received a telegram from the War Department revealing their son was now in Allied hands. Previously their last word from him was a letter on January 7. On Saturday the Reddings received a letter written on May 1 by their son saying he had been liberated three days before. A telephone message Saturday night revealed his arrival in the United States.

Redding was inducted March 5, 1943, and trained at Ft. McClellan, Ala. He went overseas in September, 1943, and served in North Africa before going to Italy.

Two brothers are also in the armed forces. S/Sgt. Henry is serving in the Pacific theatre and A/S William is stationed at Sampson, N. Y. A sister, Nancy T. Redding, is a cadet nurse in training at St. Joseph's hospital, Lancaster.

Wounded

Pfc. Therman Turner, 29, New Oxford R. 2, was slightly wounded April 23 in Germany while serving with an infantry outfit of the First Army. He went overseas last December. His wife is the former Miss Mary Wagner.

TREE IS BLOWN DOWN BY STORM; YOUTH IS HURT

A woman narrowly escaped possible serious injury, a youth was badly hurt that he remained a patient in the Warner hospital Wednesday and telephone and electric service was interrupted when a big 50-year-old silver maple tree blew over along Carlisle street, near Stevens street, at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

As the tree which stood along the east curb crashed to earth between the residences of Miss Anne Gilliland and Mr. and Mrs. George E. Buehler, Mrs. Buehler narrowly escaped being hit as she walked along the sidewalk. She said afterward that she heard the tree cracking and jumped back a few steps. Had she continued to walk toward her home, she probably would have been hit, she related.

While Ellsworth Woodward and his son, Jay, aged 17, both of 696 South Washington street, were engaged in cutting up the tree later in the afternoon, preparatory to its removal, a huge limb which had been sawed free snapped back under the pressure of a telephone cable and knocked Jay Woodward off the tree trunk. He was picked up with severe pain in his chest and back and was taken to the Warner hospital.

Young Woodward was x-rayed at the hospital Wednesday for rib and spine fractures.

Utility Lines Restored

Electric lines were snapped and others damaged when the tree fell and telephone company men said several lines in that part of town were put out of service by the damage to the telephone company's cable. Electric service was restored by 5 p. m. and all telephone lines were back in service by this morning.

High winds that preceded and accompanied the heavy but brief rainstorm here also blew over a tree on West street where electric service was interrupted for several hours. Metropolitan Edison company workmen also were called out of town to repair line damage caused by a falling tree along the Baltimore road.

The big tree at the Buehler property snapped off at the surface of the ground. The most severe part of the windstorm was past when the tree fell, witnesses said.

Most of the tree remained to be moved this morning. Red lanterns warned pedestrians last night of the sections of the tree which partly blocked the sidewalk.

Receives Call From Washington Church

The Rev. Dr. Carl R. Simon, pastor of Union Lutheran church, York, and a graduate of Gettysburg college and the Lutheran Theological seminary, has received a call to Keller Memorial Lutheran church, Washington, D. C. He is reported considering the call.

The Rev. Dr. Harold Mumper, Gettysburg, also a graduate of college and seminary, has been senior pastor of the Washington church before accepting a position as an editor of the parish and church school board.

GET CERTIFICATES

Thomas Myrick, of Gettysburg and Lawrence Hall, of Biglerville, are among the 22 members of the fire department at Letterkenny who were awarded certificates after completing the 90-hour course in the depot's school for fire service.

3 COUNTY MEN ARE FREED FROM NAZI PRISONS

Pfc. Robert N. Eisenhart, 32, husband of Mrs. Helen R. Eisenhart, Aspers, has been liberated as a prisoner of the Germans, according to a message from the International Red Cross received Tuesday by his wife.

Pfc. Eisenhart was taken prisoner December 16, 1944, while serving with an infantry outfit.

He was inducted in March, 1944 and trained at Camp Blanding, Fla.; Ft. Meade, Md., and Camp Atterbury, Ind., before going overseas last October. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis A. Eisenhart, East Berlin, and has a son, Leo R., aged 13 years.

A brother, Sgt. Merle E. Eisenhart, is stationed at Casablanca, North Africa.

Paul Kuhn Released

Mrs. Clara Kuhn, New Oxford, received a telegram Monday, informing her that her son, Pfc. Paul Kuhn, a prisoner of the Germans for more than two years, has been liberated. The message came from the International Red Cross.

Pfc. Kuhn, now 35 years old, was with the United States forces in North Africa on February 17, 1943, when he was reported missing. His mother was notified on March 8, 1943, that he was missing, and received official notification that he was a prisoner in June of that year.

Pfc. Kuhn was employed by the Beaudin Shoe company, Hanover, before being inducted into the service by Adams county board No. 1, in June, 1941. In September of that year he was released from the service and returned home as he was over 28 years of age. He again was called into service in January, 1942, and visited his home for the last time in February of that year.

Eugene Clapper Freed

Tony Clapper, of Biglerville, has received word that his son, Pfc. Eugene Clapper has been released as a prisoner of war. The letter, dated May 6, was written from France stating that Pfc. Clapper expected to be on the way home before long. He was taken at St. Lo on July 11, 1944. The last previous news from him was a letter which had been written on December 30 and received by his father on April 3.

Pfc. Clapper entered the service on January 8, 1943 and was sent overseas in May of the same year.

CAPTURED ARMY CHAPLAIN FREE

First Lieut. Donald R. Stonesifer, U. S. Army chaplain who was captured during the Belgian breakthrough by the Germans, was liberated from a Nazi prisoner of war camp, according to a cablegram received on Saturday by his wife, who resides in Hagerstown.

Lt. Stonesifer graduated from Gettysburg college in 1936 and from the Lutheran theological seminary in 1939.

The message, sent through the Red Cross, stated that the former Smithburg, Md., pastor was now in Allied hands but gave no further details.

Chaplain Stonesifer was captured by the Germans soon after going overseas in November, 1944. He had been held in several different German camps. Whether or not Chaplain Stonesifer will obtain a leave to come to this country is not yet known.

For a time Chaplain Stonesifer was assistant pastor of St. Johns Lutheran church, Hagerstown. Later he became pastor of the Smithburg charge of the Lutheran church. COUNTIAN GETS SILVER STAR

With the 83rd Thunderbolt Infantry Division in Germany, May 15—Staff Sergeant Isaac Leedy, of Mechanicsburg R. 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Leedy, Gettysburg R. 3, has been awarded the Silver Star Medal for Gallantry in Action.

He is the husband of Mrs. Dorothy Leedy, also of Mechanicsburg.

The citation or incident for which the awards was made reads:

"For gallantry in action on 13 January, 1945, in Belgium. During a determined enemy counter-attack supported by two tanks, Sergeant Leedy and two men set up a machine gun in a position commanding a view of the enemy forces. Waiting until the enemy was within close range, Sergeant Leedy opened fire, killing at least 12 and forcing the rest to withdraw. When one of the enemy tanks advanced directly upon him, he forced it to withdraw by directing intense fire upon the turret and vision slits. The conspicuous devotion to duty and fighting spirit of this non-commissioned officer reflect the highest credit on himself and exemplify the finest traditions of the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from Pennsylvania."

JUDGE SHEELY SUSTAINED BY STATE COURT

Upholding a decision of Judge W. C. Sheely in Adams county court, the state Supreme Court today handed down an opinion at Harrisburg in the appeal by the state Department of Labor and Industry from a county court opinion in the distribution of the proceeds of the personal property of the Penn Tile Works. The sale occurred more than 14 months ago and has been under litigation since.

The question to be decided in the case was whether taxes due the federal government from the Penn Tile Works have a priority over payment of unemployment compensation claims due the state. Judge Sheely's decision gave preference to the federal claims and that position was upheld by the state court.

E. V. Bullett, Esq., auditor in the case, had taken a similar position and the county court affirmed Mr. Bullett's distribution. Today's announcement at Harrisburg makes that distribution of the proceeds of the personal property sale in March, 1944, final.

Many Claims Not Met

Judge Sheely's opinion was handed down last September 30, overruling the exceptions filed by the state Department of Labor and Industry for the compensation fund.

After making distribution of the costs, the balance of $881.02 remaining from the sale of personal property was turned over to meet the federal government claim. A balance of $337.98 owing to the federal government could not be met in the distribution. Nothing was left to meet the compensation board's claims.

From the sale of real estate, which was not involved in this appeal, there remained a total of $13,960, after the payment of taxes, to be prorated between the Littlestown National bank and the First National bank of Gettysburg. The claim of the Littlestown bank was $22,619 and of the First National bank $365.

Claims not reached in the distribution include the balance due the federal government, the sum due the state, more than $20,000 owing to the Smaller War Plants Corporation and $1,662 owed to the Arendtsville bank.

GRAB'S APPEAL YAKE REQUESTS DISMISSAL OF

The move of Eugene G. Grab, of Gettysburg, to have the Adams county court review all of the facts of the case in which he was fined $250 in court in February on a charge of carrying an automatic pistol without a license was listed for argument in court Monday morning when District Attorney J. Francis Yake announced the Commonwealth had filed an answer to Grab's petition.

In his reply, Yake pointed out that Grab was not tried in court before being fined but came before the judge on a plea of "nolle contendere." Yake also denied Grab's contention that the pistol he carried was "not a firearm" because it was not loaded. The district attorney holds that it was a firearm under the provisions of the Uniform Firearms Act.

Asking dismissal of Grab's petition, Mr. Yake avers that there is no information at hand now that was not known or "discoverable" at the time Mr. Grab came before the court for sentence.

Richard A. Brown, Esq., was named master in the divorce action by Grace M. Rose against Robert G. Rose. Another master was appointed Saturday in the case of Maybelle (Thomas) Arnold vs. Marvin Millard Arnold, William L. Meals, Esq., was named in that case.

With all but about a week of his sentence already served, Paul B. Burgoon, Arendtsville, appeared in court on a plea of guilty on a charge of drunken driving brought by state police. His 30-day sentence was dated from April 28, the day of his arrest. He also must pay a $25 fine and the costs.

The court placed William Cooley, Arendtsville, on parole for two years on a forgery charge after serving a part of his jail sentence.

After a hearing the court ordered Francis Bosley, colored, Gettysburg, to pay $7 weekly for the support of his family. He must also pay the costs of his case.

Argument was heard in the claim of Howard S. Study versus the Littlestown Canning company. Scheduled argument of the assumption action of R. M. Walton vs. E. Clair Matthias, was postponed.

In response to a petition filed previously the court ordered the order against Edwin F. Myers, New Oxford R. D., for the support of his four children discontinued when it developed that all are now either employed or serving in the armed forces.

Twelve accounts in estates were confirmed and other routine matters handled.

COUNTIAN PROMOTED

The promotion to sergeant of Corporal William S. Elgin, of East Berlin, Pa., was announced at Fort Meade, Md., this week. Sergeant Elgin, 21, is a member of the Prisoner of War Camp Section, 132nd Service Command unit. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Eugene Elgin, East Berlin. He had completed three years at Pennsylvania State college when he entered the Army in May, 1943.

HONOR ROLLS OF SERVICEMEN TO BE ESTABLISHED BY BOND BUYERS

Three Honor Rolls will be established in Adams county during the Seventh War Loan campaign to pay tribute to men and women in the armed forces through the purchase of war bonds. It was announced Saturday by Mrs. F. K. Schwartz, chairman of the women's division of the county war bond organization.

There will be a Memory Section in which will be placed the names of men who have made the supreme sacrifice and in whose honor bonds are purchased.

A second roll will be the Purple Heart Section on which will be inscribed the names of servicemen who have been wounded in battle and who have been awarded the Purple Heart medal by the War Department. The purchase of a bond will place any Purple Heart holder on that list.

No Denominations Specified

The third division will be the Living Active Service list on which the name of any man or woman serving in the armed forces may be placed by the purchase of a war bond by a friend or relative.

The purchase of any size bond will place the name of any qualified serviceman or woman on the appropriate list. Mrs. Schwartz said. A $25 war bond will serve as well as a $5,000 war bond.

"We believe that a man or woman in the service from the humblest home in the county, who has made the supreme sacrifice, been wounded on the field of battle or who has served his country in uniform is just as worthy of these honors as those from well-to-do or wealthy homes," Mrs. Schwartz declared.

To Publish Names

Her committee urges that persons wishing to honor friends or relatives in the service purchase the largest denomination bond within their means.

The names of the persons being honored will be published in the Gettysburg Times but the size of the bond placing that name on the honor list will not be made public, it was emphasized.

While it is hoped that every countian who has made the supreme sacrifice, every wounded countian, and every man and woman from this county in service will find a place on the Honor Rolls, those lists will not be limited to residents of the county, Mrs. Schwartz explained.

Previous Plan Altered

Adams county residents who wish to honor friends or relatives in the service—even though their homes are not in this county—may do so.

A name may be placed on the Honor Rolls by more than one person if several wish to pay tribute to an individual in the service by this means.

The plans for service Honor Rolls announced today for the Seventh War Bond drive replace those used in previous bond drives in which bonds of prescribed denominations had to be bought to entitle a serviceman or woman to a place on the honored lists.

Mitchell, 19, of Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, navigator of "Gruesome Crewsone" a B-17 Flying Fortress of the 452nd Bombardment Group, has been awarded the Air Medal and an Oak Leaf cluster for "meritorious achievement" while taking part in Eighth Air force bombing attacks on vital German industrial targets, and on Nazi military strong points, in support of advances by Allied ground forces. ELGIN APPEALS TO HOUSEWIVES FOR TIN CANS

An appeal to housewives of Adams county to prepare and save all tin cans for war salvage collections was made Friday by Dr. Eugene Elgin, chairman of the Salvage committee of the Adams county Council of Defense.

"Even during the spring and summer months when more fresh vegetables and fruits are available, we cannot afford to throw away a single tin can," he said. "The need for tin by our military forces is greater today than at any time since the beginning of the war for the reason that the nation's stockpile of tin has nearly reached the vanishing point, and we are not able to import nearly enough to meet current military needs."

Need More Tin
"With the replacement of our troops from Europe to the Pacific greater amounts of tin are needed to supply canned rations, syrettes, blood plasma containers, ammunition boxes, sea markers, blanket containers and many other things to our fighting men."

"Pennsylvania's tin can collections for the most part have failed to keep pace with its other salvage activities, and today tin looms as the most precious of all metals for war production purposes."

"For a time, there was some difficulty in obtaining can openers and this was offered as an excuse by some for not opening both ends of the used cans and flattening them for war salvage. At the present time, however, there is a large supply of can openers in the hardware and variety stores."

1-A Rating For Tin
"We ask the housewives to prepare and save their cans, and so guarantee that they will be collected and sent to war."

Used tin cans—opened at both ends and flattened—have been given a 1-A rating and drafted for the war against Japan.

"There are no exceptions, and there will be none," Chairman Elgin declared. "The tin from every used tin can in Pennsylvania is critically needed today to supply our fighting men in the Pacific with food containers, medicine containers, syrettes, ammunition boxes and blood plasma cans."

RELIEF LOAD IN COUNTY SHOWS DROP IN YEAR

A net decrease of eight cases in the total load being carried by the Adams County Board of Public Assistance was noted in reports presented to board members at their May meeting Tuesday. The executive director, Mrs. Verna Myers, submitted figures showing that the case load decreased from 677 to 669 in the 12-month period.

In the following tabulation, current figures are listed first and the figures for the same date last year follow: Old age assistance, 459 and 446; blind pensions, 75 and 74; aid to dependent children, 73 and 98, and general assistance, 62 and 68.

With Chairman M. Stuart Danner, East Berlin, presiding, the board members completed arrangements for their attendance at a joint dinner meeting of the assistance boards of Adams, Franklin and Cumberland counties at the Washington hotel in Chambersburg next Monday evening.

Welcome New Director
Robert P. Wray, acting secretary of the state Department of Public Assistance, will be the speaker and will discuss the principal responsibilities imposed by law on county boards of assistance. Mrs. Myers will accompany the board members to the meeting.

The board members welcomed J. D. Miller, Biglerville banker, to his first meeting since his appointment as an assistance board member. A review and discussion of the county board's function in the county and of the laws under which it operates was conducted. Mrs. Myers reviewed new legislation affecting public assistance in this state and told of a meeting she attended in Harrisburg early this month when the use of insurance as resource for persons on assistance was studied.

Other board members present included Mrs. Saby and J. Hayes Beard. The next meeting will be held June 26.

LAUD SOLDIER FOR HEROISM

With the 7th Infantry Division on Okinawa, (By Mail)—As stirring an account of heroism by a medic as can be found in the Pacific is the one concerning Sgt. James S. Ward, 25, of Gettysburg, Pa.

Sergeant Ward recently volunteered to go through heavy Jap fire to bring back the wounded who had fallen in the battle for Red Hill, one of the roughest battlefields on Okinawa.

Ward thinks nothing of what he is doing for his buddies. "I don't think there ever was a hotter spot in the Pacific than the Red Hill struggle," he said in being prodded for an account of the rescue. "I was plenty scared, but I will volunteer again in emergencies such as that fight. They're heroes out there whether they fall wounded or push on unscathed."

The son of Frederick R. Ward, 29 East Middle street, in Gettysburg, the medic is one of the finest surgical technicians in his battalion.

Before entering the service he attended DePaul of Indiana, Okinawa is his fourth campaign.

CONCERT GROUP PLEASES CHAPEL CROWD FRIDAY

A near-capacity crowd of about 600 music-loving Gettysburg and Adams county war bond buyers whose presence represented E bond sales of approximately $400,000 in the Seventh War Loan drive received enthusiastically the 90-minute program by the Infantry Concert Group Friday evening in Bruin chapel and then by their persistent applause won four encore numbers.

The uniformed musicians, each a top flight instrumentalist in his own right in civilian life, performed with equal ease as they swung through a Strauss waltz, got "in the groove" with Morton Gould's "Pavane" or executed more intricate compositions of Bach or Sibelius.

Playing under the vigorous, expressive direction of Pfc. Richard Freitas, who in civilian life was head of the music department of Horace Mann high school in New York city and a violinist with the NBC Symphony, the soldier artists delighted the audience with their program of light classical and popular tunes and symphonic extracts.

Varied Program
After the playing of "The Star Spangled Banner" and an introductory tribute to the Infantry and appeal for the buying of war bonds, the symphonic group opened its program with the playing of "Overture to the Fledermaus" by J. Strauss. Then as "a tribute to PDR and President Truman" they continued with "A Celebrated Air" by Bach. Two movements from Bach's "Prelude in E Major" were followed by "Valse Triste" by Sibelius.

With first violinist Pfc. Alvin G. Rudnitsky, a former concert soloist, playing the solo part on a $45,000 Stradivarius, the group continued with "Rondo Capriccioso" by Saint Saens.

Following intermission the concertists swung into Strauss' "Emperor Waltz" and Morton Gould's "Pavane" followed by "Holiday for Strings" by David Rose. Hoagy Carmichael's "Stardust" was followed by the final selection on the concert program "Dance of the Comedians" by Smetana.

Grant Four Encores
Responding to the insistent applause, the concertists presented these selections as encores: "Flight of the Bumble Bee" by Rimsky-Korsakoff; "Argentine Nights," a tango; a typical Russian soldier song by Dusetzky and concluded with an exhibition of "violinistic caesthetics" in a military air by David Rose.

The concert group came here by bus from Harrisburg after a concert Thursday at Carlisle and left immediately after the performance for Philadelphia where they play this evening. On tour throughout the nation since March 21 in the interest of the Seventh War Bond drive, the group goes Wednesday to New England for a series of appearances.

The soldier artists' group appeared here through arrangements by Sydney J. Poppay, special events chairman for the Adams county war bond committee.

AUXILIARY OF USWV TO MEET HERE IN JUNE

The women of the auxiliary of the United Spanish War Veterans will hold their annual convention in Gettysburg June 10, 11 and 12. Mrs. George S. Rightmyer, chairman of the local committee on arrangements, announced Wednesday.

Headquarters will be opened in the Hotel Gettysburg on June 8 to receive the registration of early arrivals.

On June 9 the auxiliary members will visit the Scotland school, Scotland, Pa., to attend the graduation exercises in connection with the 50th anniversary of the founding of the school.

Because of travel restrictions the United Spanish War Veterans will not hold an "official" convention. Commander Oscar Seybert, of Butler, has called the Council of Administration into session at Harrisburg on June 11 and 12. The sessions will be held at The Harrisburg hotel.

Last year the USWV convention delegates voted to return to Gettysburg again this year but when travel restrictions were placed on convention gatherings the convention was called off.

However, many of the Spanish war veterans were hopeful that the Council of Administration sessions would have been held in Gettysburg. As it now stands the women of the auxiliary will meet here in regular annual session.

ST. JOSEPH'S IS SECOND IN BOND CONTEST

St. Joseph's college, Emmitsburg, has won second place in the national college war bond contest to select the colleges having the most outstanding war bond program it was announced Monday by Quentin Reynolds, war correspondent and member of the judges' committee.

As state winner in the preliminary contest in which colleges from all over the country entered scrap books describing their 1944-1945 war bond activity, St. Joseph's college was eligible as Maryland's representative to enter the national competition held in Washington, D. C.

In addition to Mr. Reynolds, Mrs. Mark Wayne Clark, wife of General Clark, and Dr. Francis P. Gaines, past president of the American Association of Colleges, were judges of the contest. First place winner was Lowell State Teachers' college, Lowell, Mass.

Sell $25,500 In Bonds

During the school year St. Joseph's college sold $25,500 in war bonds. Its war bond activities described in the winning scrap book began in October with a freshman rally in the form of a martial review.

The first goal was to raise sufficient money to buy uniforms for three Marines, six soldiers and 10 sailors. The objective was accomplished in one month.

Juniors opened the second drive to raise $12,500 to buy an LCPV landing craft. Mimeographed letters were sent to friends and relatives. The school paper advertised the drive. Art department students turned out posters. One large poster, in which four small landing craft representing freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors, made their way across a cardboard ocean to take a cardboard beachhead and show the progress of the drive. Within three months they bought the LCPV.

A musical meeting under the auspices of the college glee club began the Seventh War Loan drive at the college. The English department sponsored an essay contest on "Why Buy Bonds?" The objective, a $1,950 laundry trailer, has already been reached.

"Campus Crier"
Marie Flanagan, chairman of the war bond committee at the college, is this year's "campus crier" who blows a horn over the college grounds to announce the place and time of stamp and bond sales.

Other students active in the war bond program are Alexandria Denigate, Marian Leahy, Agnes Ratas, Marguerite McSorley, Marie Wackerman, Jane Basic, Mary Elizabeth Hiemenz, Noel Zimmerman, Betty Boggs, Mary Ann Kenner and Julia Morris.

CARRIERS SELL BONDS TO PNPA

The Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association Wednesday announced that it will buy three $1,000 war bonds through The Gettysburg Times for credit to the Gettysburg Times newboys' Water Weasel campaign.

The Water Weasel campaign is over but the $2,200 cost of the bonds will be credited to the Adams county war bond quota in recognition of the contribution made by The Gettysburg Times newboys in the water weasel drive when 10-cent stamp sales topped the 400,000 mark.

Sales of war stamps by Times carriers since stamp selling began in 1941, in addition to stamps sold during the recent drive, place the Gettysburg Times tenth in Pennsylvania among all newspapers which sell stamps through their newboys. The Times was one of the first papers in the country to adopt the carrier-salesman plan.

In a letter announcing its intention to purchase the three Series F $1,000 bonds, at a cost of $740 apiece, the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association said, "We are glad to do this and hope it will be an encouragement to the boys to sell more war bonds and stamps."

PREDICTS BOOM IN TRAVEL FOR POST-WARYEARS

A vigorous state travel advertising program if supported with "individual initiative in private enterprise and local teamwork," will increase Pennsylvania's pre-war $415,000,000 travel industry to $700,000,000 in the first post-war years, Henry M. Scharf, manager of Hotel Gettysburg, told Wayneboro Rotarians at their luncheon meeting Tuesday evening at the Anthony Wayne Hotel, Wayneboro.

Mr. Scharf, who is a member of the travel advisory committee of the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce, said there will be keen competition not only among states but that "in the early post-war period, the United States will be confronted with competition from Mexico and other nations of the western hemisphere—and, even more seriously, from vast changes in travel preferences domestically."

He said within five years at the most, foreign travel to all parts of the world will seriously compete with American travel.

State Shrines Best

"As the keystone state of the nation, as the nation's travel objective, as the state with outstanding sacred historic shrines and superb scenery, Pennsylvania can, all other things being equal, better than hold its own in the highly competitive travel field of five or ten years hence."

Upon recounting the history of state advertising, which is now in its tenth year, the speaker said approximately one and one-half million dollars had been expended from the motor fund in that period, and that the expenditure had proven a good investment for more than ten times that sum had been returned to the motor fund in the form of taxes on gasoline purchased by out-of-state motorists.

Travel, he said, was the fourth largest business in the state in the last normal travel year—1941—and was exceeded only by steel machinery and the wearing apparel industries. In dollar value, the expenditures in the commonwealth by out-of-state tourists and vacationers was greater than the value of coal that was mined and oil that was produced in the state in the last normal travel year.

Fifth Travel-State

He cited figures to show that Pennsylvania, through its ten-year travel advertising campaign, is now fifth among travel states—being surpassed only by New York, California, Illinois and Ohio.

"In the travel field Pennsylvania ranks Florida and Maine. It derives three times as much revenue from vacationists as does Florida and eight times more than Maine—and in Maine the vacation business is the state's largest enterprise," he declared.

That Pennsylvania and its communities will have to be on the alert in the future is made clear, he said, by the recently released Hoyt survey of the northeast area of the United States, the area west to the addition of a typical cross-section of Canada.

"In 1941, of the people interviewed 61 per cent vacationed within that area, only 38 per cent expect to do so in post-war years. The trend of travel from this region is definitely to the Pacific coast, for 56 per cent of those replying signified that area as their post-war vacation place. In 1941, the west coast attracted only six per cent of the travel from the northeast section.

Urges Vigorous Program

"California is the first choice, Florida the second and Maine, which is relatively close at hand, gets third place among travelers from the highly populated area. Pennsylvania was mentioned in less than one per cent of the answers."

The speaker pointed out that Pennsylvania derived a considerable volume of its pre-war travel from the northeast area and cited the trend to the west coast and other distant points, on the part of travel from the northeast, as evidence of the necessity that the state carry on a vigorous program and that Pennsylvania communities "adopt local teamwork and individual initiative in private enterprise as needed supplements to the state program."

While foreign travel in 1929 represented less than one per cent of the population it represented 20 per cent of travel expenditures. Projections made by the foreign and domestic commerce bureau of the United States Department of Commerce make it reasonable to believe that foreign travel, at high-level incomes in a peaceful world, will represent an even greater proportion of travel expenditures than in 1929, he said.

Over-Expansion Warning

"Hence, unless we make 'See America First' much more than a mere catch phrase, these United States will within five years lose much of its projected ten billion dollar travel industry."

In concluding, Mr. Scharf warned against over-expansion in construction of new highways, hotels and other travel facilities.

"Our highways must be built sensibly—developing to modern specifications existing highways rather than abandon them, or relegate them to inferior grade, in favor of spectacular speedways, toll-turnpikes and other non-access arteries hotels and other travel facilities unless we are to again witness the

$3,000 FIRE IN QUAKER VALLEY

Approximately $3,000 damage was done by fire which destroyed the two-story frame dwelling house of Mr. and Mrs. Coffman Shenk, Quaker Valley, Wednesday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock.

The origin of the fire is uncertain but John Deardorff, Biglerville fire chief, said it was possible that leaking gas fumes became ignited from a furnace fire causing an explosion.

Mrs. Shenk was working in her garden when she heard a light "thud" but thought nothing of it and continued working for several minutes. Later she glanced toward the house and saw flames issuing forth from several windows.

A call was placed for the Biglerville fire company which arrived within 15 minutes. However, the house was beyond saving and firemen used the booster tank to vent nearby buildings to prevent the spread of flames. Sparks set fire to a nearby woods which was quickly extinguished by the firemen.

All household furnishings and clothing were destroyed by the flames which quickly enveloped the entire structure.

The loss is partially covered by insurance.

Mr. and Mrs. Shenk are residing temporarily at a previously vacant house near the home of Martin Boyer, Biglerville R. 1.

E BOND SALES DISCOURAGING

"Reports of sales of E bonds to Adams countians are discouraging," said a member of the county War Finance Committee Thursday in announcing total sales of $240,170.25.

"This is slightly more than one-third our quota of E bonds to individuals in the Mighty Seventh war loan drive and it means that unless we show a tremendous increase in sales of this issue of bonds Adams county will, for the first time since the war started, fail to reach its quota," the official said.

The county quota is $700,000. With sales of $240,170.25 up to noon today there remains $559,829.75 worth of E bonds to reach the allotment for this area.

disaster of insane overbuilding that characterized the travel-boom period after the last war, at such devastating cost to investors.

"Travel has become a mature business. It must be reckoned with with the same sound judgment as any other of the nation's major industries.

"It requires planned and sane development of both transport and service facilities and resistance to over-expansion that is ill-advised no matter how idealistic it may be."

OFFICERS ARE CHOSEN BY GIRL SCOUT LEADERS

The Adams County Girl Scout Leaders' club met Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Charles Ritter, Littlestown, for an outdoor supper prepared and served by the troop committee of Littlestown.

SHORTAGE OF FARM LABOR; SEEK PUPILS

With a shorter supply of labor available and the prospect of larger crops to handle, especially in the vegetable canning industry, the Emergency Farm Labor office and the United States Employment Service here declared Friday, Adams county agriculture faces its most acute labor problem of the war during the coming season.

With the feeling that one chief source of labor will be young people of upper grade and high school age, the Farm Labor Office, 111 Baltimore street, has appealed to boys and girls of that age to register for farm and orchard work during the vacation season.

The U. S. Employment Service said that with the "free labor" supply here shorter than ever before assurance has been secured that the present prisoner of war camp will be retained through the canning season and disclosed that there is likelihood that a second camp will be established. A request has been sent in for double the number of prisoners used here in 1944.

To Use Prisoners

E. A. Crouse, manager of the local USES office, said that the prisoners, now engaged in cutting pulpwood in the South Mountains, will be used chiefly in fruit and vegetable processing plants. In "off seasons" at those plants during the harvest period, they will be made available for farm work and wood cutting if sufficient numbers are secured.

Mr. Crouse, emphasizing the seriousness of the labor situation, pointed out that vegetable canners in this county last year processed 470,000 cases of food and have been asked this year to produce 485,000 cases. Each case contains 24 cans.

To meet these food demands canners have encouraged marked increases in acreages of tomato, bean and pea raisers entailing increased labor needs both on the farm and at the processing plants.

County Agent M. T. Hartman, who heads the Emergency Farm Labor organization in the county, disclosed Friday that his field representative, J. B. Collins, is contacting high schools and pupils of the upper grades in grammar schools to solicit farm and orchard help beginning with peach thinning in June and closely followed by bean and cherry picking.

Need Volunteers

Volunteers for farm and orchard work may enroll by mail, telephone or in person at the Farm Labor office in the Topper building next to the court house on Baltimore street, Mr. Hartman said.

He said arrangements are underway to establish another work camp for Jamaicans this year at Old Forge and consideration is being given to plans to open peak period camps for high school age boys and girls from Pennsylvania cities, as was done last year.

Some cherry orchards are showing promise of larger crops than was indicated by first surveys after frost injury late in the spring, Mr. Hartman said.

"The urgency for harvesting all of the crops on time is greater than ever this year," Mr. Hartman said, "because of the higher food goals that have been set for the nation. Everywhere the farm labor situation is the most critical since Pearl Harbor. Food production goals are at a new high and the labor pool is declining so we must count more and more upon volunteer workers, many of them women and strong young people who are willing to do their share to harvest and process food that is just as essential to our fighting men as tanks and guns and ammunition. The farmers have planted crops to meet the high goals, now it's up to us to find the hands to harvest and process it."

He urged that farmers and fruitmen arrange for all of the help they possibly can on their own initiative and then look to the emergency farm labor office for labor supplies beyond that which they have been able to find. The farm labor office is open daily from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m., excepting on Saturdays when it closes at noon.

Lt. "Hank" Burman Freed From Germans

First Lieutenant Henry M. Burman, 27, one of the heroes of the first American bomber raids over Germany's homeland, is on his way home from a Nazi prison camp with "enough of war to last me the rest of my life."

Lieutenant Burman, son of Mr. and Mrs. George N. Burman, of 3610 Jasper street, Philadelphia, and pilot of a Flying Fortress was taken prisoner when his plane was shot down in a raid over St. Nazaire on February 16, 1943. He was liberated April 29 by General Patton's Third Army.

While he was a prisoner, Lieutenant Burman, former captain at Frankford high school and Gettysburg college, was awarded the Air Medal and Oak Leaf Cluster. Free after 27 months in a prison camp near Munich—he suffered a fractured skull and several fractured ribs when his plane crashed—Lieutenant Burman wrote his parents that he is "well and everything is okay."
